Formosa 'Explosive'

HONG KONG (UP)—A touring British Labor Party delegation arrived here from Red China Wednesday and one of its members said the Peiping Communists were so worked up over Formosa that any incident could "explode a third world war."

The eight-member Socialist delegation headed by former Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee came here by train from Canton to end a controversial 15-day tour of Communist China.

The Communists gave them the red carpet treatment up to the end. Their train crossed the Lower frontier rail bridge—the first Chinese Communist train to cross the border since 1949.

Attlee and most of the delegation members appeared weary from their long junket which has brought angry reaction both in Britain and the United States.

NO COMMENT

The former Labor prime minister had no comment to add to the delegation's statement in Canton Tuesday night which said a peaceful co-existence with the Communist world could diminish the chances of war.

Most of the talking was done by Henry W. Franklin, of the British National Union of Railwaymen, who told reporters he was impressed by the "great drive and energy of the Chinese."

The Chinese Communists, Franklin said, are working the nation up to such a pitch on the issue of Nationalist Formosa that he believed any incident, however trivial, could "explode a third world war."

'DYNAMITE'

Franklin said the British delegation discussed the Formosa question with Communist leaders who have threatened repeatedly to "liberate" Chiang Kai-shek's island bastion.

He said Formosa was a "dynamite subject."

"They maintained, over and over again that Formosa is theirs when they are powerful enough to do something about it," Franklin said in an interview.

Attlee will stay here for three days before leaving for Australia via Singapore.

Other members of the delegation are to leave for Tokyo today.

Nastiest Since 1900

Let's Just Forget Month of August

August was a mean month at Victoria, the nastiest, in fact, since 1900.

The weather office reports that the mean temperature for the month of 57.8 degrees equals the previous recorded low at the turn of the century.

A mean maximum temperature of 64 for the month is also the lowest since 1900. Then it was 63.3.

Other sad facts about August are: The mean temperature was 2.2 degrees below normal; rain fall of 2.04 inches was 1.4 inches more than normal, and the sunshine question was too bad to talk about.

August 28 takes the laurels for the warmest day. It reached a dizzy height of 71.8 degrees.

Down in the basement was August 25, with 49.9.

This year as a whole is nothing to scream about. Since January 1 there have fallen 17.44 inches of rain, 3.63 inches more than normal.

Old Sol has shone for 1,513.8 hours, about 194.5 hours less than usual.

Flashing Jets Draw All Eyes

Thousands at Patricia Bay Airport yesterday afternoon saw a C-119 Flying Boxcar at close range during lulls in a breath-taking display by Canada's crack jet fliers. Shortly after the show opened with a supersonic bang as the sound barrier was pierced by a Sabre fighter, four CF-100 Canuck all-weather fighters flew past in tight box formation as seen in the picture inset.

Young fists clenched tight around imaginary controls at Patricia Bay as hundreds of youngsters imagined themselves in the cockpits of the flashing jets which thrilled the crowds.

Supersonic Boom Rends Sky To Herald RCAF Jet Display

BY IAN MACDONALD

F.O.—Al McIlraith opened yesterday's RCAF jet aerobics display at Patricia Bay Airport with a bang as he piloted a Sabre jet fighter through the sound barrier at more than 700 mph.

The 21-year-old Ontario flier whistled down from a clear blue sky a few minutes after 3 p.m. to herald a 65-minute, breath-taking performance by some of Canada's crack airmen.

All eyes were turned upward when the crowd, estimated at 7,000 in the immediate airport area, was informed that FO McIlraith was beginning his dive from more than 10,000 feet.

CROWD HUSHED

Spectators were hushed as his plane, a tiny, silver streak streaming a vapor trail, was seen plummeting towards the earth.

They winced as the air was rent by a sharp crack when the aircraft tore through the sound barrier.

FO McIlraith took his bow with a low-level run over the crowd at more than 650 mph.

THREE TYPES

Then came a fly past of F-86 Sabres, CF-100 Canuck all-weather fighters and T-33 Silver Star trainers.

The aircraft left Sea Island airport at 2:45 p.m. None of the jets landed at Patricia Bay crowd on the way home. Some during the demonstration. For a C-119 Flying Boxcar, which brought flight control officers to the island, was open for inspection.

It was the second time the sound barrier has been broken officially in B.C. the first time on Sunday at Vancouver.

Heavy 17-ton Canuck fighters were the first aircraft to demonstrate formation flying. Four of them flew in box formation about 200 feet over the crowd.

SLOW RUN

One airmen staged a slow-down fly past at 125 mph, about the Canuck's slowest air speed. His white-painted helmet could be seen in the cockpit as the aircraft whined past.

Three Sabres opened their part of the performance with a high-speed, lineastern flash over the heads of the audience.

The aircraft left heavy smoke trails behind them. "A sure sign the boys are pouring on the coal," said an RCAF commentator from his vantage point in the Flying Boxcar's cockpit.

STUNTS, TOO

The Sabres, used effectively by RCAF fliers against Chinese MiGs in Korea, screamed overhead at about 625 mph in intricate manoeuvres and stunts.

A solo slow roll gripped the crowd's imagination. Four Silver Star trainers wheeled through their paces as though tied together. During the formation flying their wing tips were no more than 30 inches apart.

WAIT FOR TCA

The smooth-moving performance was held up only twice by the arrival and take-off of Trans-Canada Airlines' Dakotas, slow and cumbersome compared with the fleet jets.

FO Peter Hawkes of Duncan was at the controls of one of the CF-100s during the display.

Dreams of faster-than-sound speeds were quickly dashed for the homeward-bound motoring ship.

Immigration Men Slapped in Report

'Shocking' Practices Disclosed at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canada's citizenship and immigration department was accused Wednesday of "shocking" practices all over the world.

The charges came at the conclusion of the Canadian Bar Association when the results of a 2½-year investigation of the department were disclosed following a committee meeting.

At the meeting, a three-man sub-committee, which had been investigating abuses in immigration procedure, sought permission from the parent committee to continue the investigation for another year.

J. H. McDonald of Ottawa, sub-committee chairman, said the investigation was disclosing "conditions more shocking than we first suspected."

Mr. McDonald, a Liberal organizer in Ontario, said that two years ago three lawyers, including himself, were named to the investigating sub-committee on immigration. The others were John Dickey, Halifax member of Parliament and parliamentarian assistant to Trade Minister Howe, and John Taylor, Vancouver attorney, who has handled thousands of immigration cases.

The sub-committee Mr. McDonald said, had studied more than 200 cases and "this is the sort of thing we're finding out."

1. That in countless incidents Canadians trying to return from abroad were delayed by the immigration department anywhere up to five years. "They appear at an overseas immigration office with their birth certificates. An inspector simply tells them he doesn't believe they are the person named on the certificate. Then he tells them goodbye. They have no recourse in the courts. Some of them never get home."

2. That there is little uniformity in the department's rules and regulations. A man may be refused entry by one inspector and permitted entry by another.

3. That the inspectors themselves aren't clear on what authority they have for their actions. The West Coast inspectors are determining some cases on the basis of a statement made in the Commons by the minister. They have nothing else to go on.

Mr. McDonald said that the sub-committee has "literally pounds" of evidence to back up its charges and two weeks ago some of this was presented to Citizenship and Immigration Minister Walter Harris.

Arms Outlay Down

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has reduced spending on arms and defense equipment, with Sabre jet production and defense construction taking the biggest cut.

With world tensions easing, the government's arms expenditures dropped to $225,000,000 in the first four months of the 1954-55 fiscal year, down $56,000,000 from $281,000,000 in the April-July period last year.

Informants estimated Wednesday that the biggest drop was in aircraft where government payments for the four months declined by $32,000,000 to $109,000,000.

No figures on volume could be disclosed, but they said deliveries of Sabre jets have been reduced to less than half the flow of last year, and that CF-100 jet fighter deliveries to the RCAF also have declined slightly. On the other hand, deliveries of T-33 jet trainers have increased.

Canada has produced more than 1,000 Sabre jets at the big Canair plant in Montreal and most of these have been shipped overseas to equip Canada's air division in Europe and provide contributions to the RAF and other overseas allies.

Britain Calls Conference On German Rearmament

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain called Wednesday night for an eight-power conference at which she will ask that Germany be rearmed now and brought into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization following the death of the European Defense Community plan.

The decision, which came at a cabinet meeting, presided over by Prime Minister Churchill, coincided with a new, bold rumble from Bonn demanding full sovereignty for West Germany and the right to participate "without discrimination" in Western defense.

The conference, aimed at seeking an alternative method to rearm West Germany now that EDC is dead, probably will be held within three weeks. Invitations to attend were sent Wednesday night to the foreign ministers of the United States and the six EDC signatory nations—West Germany, France, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg.

The British decision to ask for West Germany's rearmament will stipulate that safeguards be provided against any resurgence of national militarism.

In Paris a French foreign office spokesman said the government warmly welcomed the British government proposal for an eight-power conference to discuss a solution of problems arising from the collapse of the European Defense Community.

BONN—Dispatches said West Germany, reacting sharply to France's refusal to approve a European army including German troops, Wednesday night demanded full sovereignty and "participation without discrimination" in Western defense.

Doukhobor Land Tangle Goes To Commissioner in 10 Days

A major step in the solution of the tangled Doukhobor land question will be taken in 10 days after the Sun Life Assurance Co. foreclosed on a loan and the land was seized by the National Trust Co.

The commissioner will likely be a member of the Supreme Court Judiciary.

He will be charged with this since 1939. Some of the Doukhobors pay rent for the land and own the land. Others pay nothing.

The judicial commissioner, appointed under an act passed during the 1953 fall legislative session, will try to solve the question of who is entitled to the land, how it should be divided and what provision must be made for claims by creditors of the defunct brotherhood.

DEFERRED

Education Minister Ray Williston admitted the lands question will be used to deter orthodox Doukhobors from joining the fanatic Sons of Freedom in protest against the government's go-to-school order.

Certain members on the fringe of the orthodox group might be swayed to embrace the Freedomite cause when the government endeavors to enforce the order in Glade and Krestova, the worst trouble spot in the province.

Doukhobors who "don't behave themselves," Mr. Williston said, may find their lawlessness a black mark against them when the land allotment question is being worked out.

Mr. Williston said the Krestova and Glade school situation would be a critical stage in the government's Sons of Freedom policy.

Car Damaged Striking Pole, No One Hurt

About $1,500 damage was done to a 1953 model car when it hit a pole as it was rounding a curve on Towner Bay Road, just north of the Union Bay Indian reserve early today, RCMP said the car was driven by Mrs. Vera Lynne, 2635 Shelbourne but none of the three occupants were injured.

The amount of insured damage done by the hurricane in New York, New Jersey and the New England states was estimated Wednesday at $38,400,000 by underwriters.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

NORTH AMERICANS are travelers. Inheriting the spirit of older travelers like Columbus, Cabot and Cartier, they have become people of great distances. What a European would regard as a week's journey, they will easily drive in a night to attend a meeting or a dance.

My family follows that tradition, too, in its own small way. Already encamped in a quiet place far from home, with fishing-grounds near at hand, my father and I drove 85 miles further, to Forbes Landing.

As we hummed along with the small boat lashed to the top of the car, we noticed a curious thing. A great many American visitors passed us in both directions, towing trailers, with boats strapped to the tops of the cars. The boats were much bigger and better than ours. But many of them were exactly alike one another. The trailers, too, were identical. We saw some trailers and boats of different makes, too. But a surprising number of them were as exactly like one another as 10-cent pieces fresh from the mint. They were factory-made, assembly-line jobs.

Taking a holiday is so much an individual matter that it seemed incongruous, in a way, for holiday-makers to be using exactly similar equipment, as though they were uniforms.

Perhaps it showed that North Americans tend to stay near home in the spirit, no matter how far they travel in the flesh. They prefer not to move too far from safe conformity.

Regardless of that, we would have been glad to have one of those metal boats instead of our flat-bottomed plywood punt. But our boat served the purpose fairly well. We manhandled it somehow down a steep bank into the lake and spent several hours rowing back and forth, getting tangled in snags, hooking fish and losing them.

At last I hit a big one, brought him alongside after 10 minutes, and my father, having left the net at home, gently lifted the fish into the boat by hand, a three-pound cutthroat. He said he got far more pleasure from seeing me catch a fish than he would have done from catching one himself. I believed him. He is an expert angler, and he tried for years to teach me something, but I was a clumsy pupil, and not very interested.

This trout was well worth two lost spoons, several dollars' worth of gas, and a stiff neck. The stiff neck was caused by rowing, with a breeze blowing down my collar. It made me stoop, so that I got out of a car at a wayside cafe looking like the Hunchback of Notre Dame.

We reached the cabin in darkness to find that some friends from Victoria had dropped in to see us. They were staying in a tourist court with every convenience, some miles away, but said they liked our primitive cabin better. With electricity and running water, they might as well have stayed home, they said. No doubt they were just being polite.

We sat around in lamplight, discussing such topics as whether horses were smarter than dogs, how big barracuda grew, and whether those little fish in the Amazon River could really devour a man in a minute. All day no one had mentioned the Communists, or work. It was this last fact, above all else, that made it a perfect day.

Can't Counter 2-4-D Effects

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Weedkiller Damage—(C.A.M., Victoria)—I don't think it is possible that RX-12 can act as an antidote to heal plants damaged by 2-4-D. RX-12 is a simple chemical fertilizer, with about the same formula as Instant Vigor, Folium, Hypoxone and Rapid-Gro, and while a fertilizer might possibly help a plant not too badly damaged by the weed-killer to grow away again, it is not in any sense a neutralizer or antidote.

There is some grounds for belief that MH-40 (maleic hydrazide) may be the long-awaited neutralizer for 2-4-D. The weed-killer stimulates plants to the point where they grow then selves to death, while MH-40 slows down growth. This is the stuff that is sprayed along the edge of lawns to cut down on the chore of clipping.

Geranium Cuttings—(P.M.R., James Island)—Your double pink geraniums should really be outdoors, hardening up their wood and absorbing sunshine and fresh air. You can take cuttings any time now. Take the tips of side shoots, four or five inches long, with the lower leaves removed and the bases cut cleanly across just below the joint. Let them stand in the open air for half a day for the cut end to dry off and form a callus, then plant them firmly in clean sand and keep shaded from direct sunshine.

Heliotrope like a rather sandy soil with a bit of leaf mold in it, and a position in full sun. Your stunted plants may not be getting enough light.

Freezies are quite easy to grow from seed, but you must remember to keep them cool and don't pamper them. In exceptionally mild winters, I've had them come into bloom outdoors in January, but they really need cloches or a cool greenhouse. If you give them too much heat and protection, they go all floppy and soft, and the buds are blind.

Cyclamen corms held over from last winter may bloom again, but it's a gamble, and hardly worth the time and effort.

I went downstairs quickly, blind with rage. Pat had betrayed me and I was aching to mess up that smug face of his. The fact that he was my brother now only seemed to make it worse instead of better.

The door of the dining room was locked; but a line of light at the bottom told me Pat didn't have exposed film lying around. I started to knock, then changed my mind and pulled out my key ring. I turned the right key, and it stopped to look into the dining room.

The kid wasn't there, but Lea Holmes was on the bandstand, giving with that luscious, throaty voice of hers. The customers had stopped talking to listen, and you have to be good to make them do that in a night club. The critics called her "The voice with the built-in invitation."

But she had more than just a voice that was different and terrific. She had red hair, beautiful copper red, and a gorgeous, crowd-stopping face. And a body. She was wearing a sea-green satin gown, shoulderless and clinging, which left no doubt about that.

She swayed slightly as she sang, and her movements said she was ready to fulfill that invitation in her voice. That was what really got me. When she finished, the audience was like melted butter.

Standing there listening to Lea I forgot about the kid for a few moments. Then when she finished I remembered and got mad all over again. This fool stunt of his might lose Lea for me.

I left the foyer and went down the hall to the darkroom.

The kid wasn't there, but Lea Holmes was on the bandstand, giving with that luscious, throaty voice of hers. The customers had stopped talking to listen, and you have to be good to make them do that in a night club. The critics called her "The voice with the built-in invitation."

But she had more than just a voice that was different and terrific. She had red hair, beautiful copper red, and a gorgeous, crowd-stopping face. And a body. She was wearing a sea-green satin gown, shoulderless and clinging, which left no doubt about that.

She swayed slightly as she sang, and her movements said she was ready to fulfill that invitation in her voice. That was what really got me. When she finished, the audience was like melted butter.

Standing there listening to Lea I forgot about the kid for a few moments. Then when she finished I remembered and got mad all over again. This fool stunt of his might lose Lea for me.

I left the foyer and went down the hall to the darkroom.

Millions in Japan Keep Death Watch On Bikini Victim

TOKYO (AP)—Eighty million Japanese, drawn together in their strongest national feeling since the Second World War, kept a death watch today over the bedside of an unconscious

The sick man is Aikichi Kuboyama, radio operator doused with radioactive ash along with 22 others aboard the Lucky Dragon, March 1, when the United States set off a hydrogen bomb explosion at Bikini atoll.

Kuboyama, racked by radiation sickness and jaundice, clung feebly to life in a deep coma.

Across Japan's four main islands the blackest headlines proclaimed: "Bikini victim near death."

If Kuboyama dies, it is certain that U.S.-Japanese relations will sink to the lowest point since the Pacific war ended nine years ago.

Nothing has shaken the Japanese like this since the war.

At Kuboyama's bedside there is the spectre of the tens of thousands of men, women and children who died in the atomic fires at Hiroshima and Naga-

Atomic Doom Looms

OXFORD (AP)—Scientists have so much control over the forces of nature that "we might soon become able to destroy two-thirds of the world by pressing a button," the president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science said Wednesday.

Dr. Edgar D. Adrian told the association's annual meeting that repeated atomic explosions might lead to a general radioactive contamination "which no one can tolerate or escape."

It was the task of scientists, he said, to point out that the human race cannot stand more than a few thousand large atomic explosions whether they hit their target or miss it.

Precautions can be taken to avoid the dangers of contamination when atomic energy is used to supply power for industry, but in a major war "they would soon be set aside," he continued.

"Powerful nations who think they could win quickly might accept the risk."

'Useless Talk' at TLC Meeting Under Fire by Labor Council

The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada will receive a lecture about "too much talking" from one of its member organizations, the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council.

Percy Raymond, council secretary, and John McNeill, Street Railwaymen's Union, both delegates to the TLC convention in Regina last week, agreed that "the most noticeable thing was the tremendous waste of time on speeches."

"Everybody complained, but one after another said the same thing," Mr. Raymond said. "The time could easily have been cut in half if those people had not wanted to get their names on record."

He emphasized he was referring to speakers on the floor, not the rostrum.

The council decided to write to the TLC asking that speeches and presentations be confined to evening sessions at future conventions.

Delegates also supported a convention resolution which condemned compulsory arbitration which "may be coming in Canada" through the federal government stand on rail disputes.

The resolution referred to the decision of railway workers to agree to arbitration of their current dispute, after the government stated a special session of parliament would be held if there was no settlement.

The council has given Ed Haw its unanimous support as candidate in the Saanich municipal by-election, September 18.

Mr. Haw was the only nominee to come before a joint group of members of the political action committees of the council, and the Victoria Labor Council (VLC).

John Steele, Machinists' Union, asked the TLC group last night for a delay so he could ask his union for instructions.

His request last night after Percy Raymond, council secretary, called Mr. Haw "a man who is strictly for the workers."

Officials said they had no record of the other candidate, Dr. Ronald M. Grant, a naturopath.

A veteran Victoria trade unionist will preside when the labor council officially opens its new headquarters at 613 Pandora Avenue on Monday, Labor Day.

Cabinet Selects Rail Arbitrator

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet has selected an arbitrator to settle multi-million dollar differences between Canadian railway companies and their 143,000 non-operating employees.

Prime Minister St. Laurent told reporters following a cabinet meeting Wednesday, however, that the name of the arbitrator will not be announced until a decision has been made on the terms of reference under which he will operate.

Mr. St. Laurent said the labor department now is working with the unions and the companies on the terms of reference.

After they are decided an order-in-council appointing the arbitrator will be made public.

A labor department official said he expects the terms to be decided in a "matter of days."

The unions want the arbitrator to decide on all points at the strike began June 21 with both unions demanding a 12 1/2-cent hourly wage increase. A number of mills since have reached local settlements, some with boosts as high as 12 1/2 cents.

Each union estimates it still has more than 20,000 members on strike.

Inequitable Proposition

IT is a curious submission by the B.C. Electric Company that, if the people of Saanich object to the proposed new high-tension transmission lines being strung overhead, the 10,000 consumers of electricity in the municipality should each have a surcharge of $7 a year added to their accounts to cover the extra cost of underground wiring. Whose power distribution system is it? Who will receive the increased financial returns from the new accounts which the expansion of service is designed to create? Not the ratepayers of Saanich, nor Saanich customers of the B.C. Electric, unless they happen to own stock in the company.

In the alternative to overhead wiring which the B.C. Electric has suggested it would be hard to detect elements of fairness. Not all consumers of electricity in Saanich have a stake in the municipality. A large proportion rent dwellings, so that the question of property values and municipal assessments is no concern of theirs. Yet the company proposes that every customer, whether owner or tenant, should pay an extra $7 a year to cover the cost of putting the cables—the company's cables—where they should be put, out of sight and out of harm's way.

There must be many people in Saanich to whom a $7 surcharge would be a distinct hardship unaccompanied by any compensating advantage. Nor has the company refuted the contention that this large-scale expansion would provide improved service and stimulated development in regions beyond the Saanich boundaries. Saanich is entitled to ask why it and it alone should be penalized because it lies athwart the route of a main transmission line to areas farther on.

There are other objections to the B.C. Electric's proposition which remain unanswered. The company has made no attempt to explain the basis of comparison between the cost of an overhead system and that of an underground one. It states merely that the difference would be almost $1,000,000. For an overhead system a 100-foot right-of-way across the municipality would have to be purchased, presumably at currently high property prices. Against this what estimate is there of cost of easements for buried wiring, which presumably would be very much less, perhaps almost negligible? Furthermore an underground system would have considerably more value to the company as a book asset than one above ground, besides involving less maintenance and replacement over the years.

Have these factors been taken into account in the company's flat assertion that Saanich collectively or its householders individually should be charged with the total difference in construction costs?

Hurricane 'Carol'

ABOUT a week ago a small cyclonic disturbance was reported off the coast of Florida waltzing at 65 miles per hour and moving forward at five miles. Weathermen gave it the name of "Carol." Left to itself, "Carol" swept up the coastline still out to sea and turned in later over the land. Its circular winds were then of the order of 125 miles per hour and increasing. "Carol" was growing up. On Tuesday the hurricane ripped through five states and a small part of Canada in a full-dress performance, with wind velocities of up to 186 miles per hour. Damage resulted and some lives were lost in the storm from direct or related causes.

There is an unresolved challenge in the circumstances, common enough though they may be. Here to begin with was a vortex of air at almost the point where it might as easily have petered out. Its forward speed was little more than the rate a man could walk. The resultant of free forces in the atmosphere, the swirling ghost gathered force; enlarging the circle of its winds, whipping up its tempo and becoming a full-fledged hurricane. Then through ill chance it swept in over inhabited areas on the land. As a hurricane, of course, nothing could turn it aside or stop it. It blew itself out.

While meteorologists may have long names for the process, the birth, growth and movement of a storm follows a fairly regular sequence. The incipient cyclone is not much different from such a vortex as one may see in any home in the draining of a bathtub; a circular funnel-shaped movement which is the resultant of other natural forces. Although with greater fluidity, the air behaves just like the water, and both of them are in the process of finding their level in a free, untrammelled medium. A depth charge exploded at the centre of the infant "Carol" might have broken the vortex or changed its direction. Such experiments have been tried, but not altogether conclusively.

It is not too big a gap between charting the course of a storm and jumping on its source, where that is within coastwise reach. Perhaps some day more attention will be given to experimental means to see if small gathering vortices can in fact be broken up. Not all hurricanes could be headed off even so, but to stop one from midland damage would be a practical gain.

Returning Salmon Runs

THE one-day bonanza Canadian fishing vessels had from the Adams River sockeye run in Active Pass this week, together with the turn-about closure which permitted American craft to haul in their share of the catch, stand together as a tribute to fish conservation measures begun on this coast a long time ago. The late John Pease Babcock through much of a lifetime preached conservation, fish escape periods, river ladders and many of the devices now used in joint international co-operation to that end. The area-and-quota system was bitterly opposed in its day, but it has been paying off in the steady return of the salmon to their home waters.

There is a good deal to be done still. Greater Victoria lost an outstanding coho fishery when the mouths of the Cowichan and Goldstream Rivers were allowed to silt up, and when in the latter the natural flow of water was suspended. The years have brought back some of the coho, but they have not re-established the former breeding grounds. Today that may be of more importance to sports fishing than it is to the commercial fisheries of the province; but it is one instance of how human disregard can lessen natural benefits.

From a practical standpoint, a controlled, modified catch has come to be understood as a guarantee of successful continuation of the main commercial fisheries. Not all of the salmon runs have been restored to their pristine volume, but the seasonal runs in the main rivers have been improving directly as definite steps have been taken to clear obstructions and permit the reasonable escape of sufficient fish to renew the spawning cycle. The sockeye is the high-value fish in the salmon catch, and for that reason a full run of sockeye in the Adams River system this year is a welcome sign.

Revived Influence Reflected

By PAUL SCOTT RANKINE
Reuters Staff Writer

THERE is increasing pressure in the United States both in the press and in some official circles for Britain and the United States to restore sovereignty to Western Germany and integrate a German contribution into the Western defense system if necessary, without French cooperation.

The New York Times put forward one "harsh solution," namely, "an alliance between the United States, Britain and Germany which would link Germany to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as the Balkan alliance links Yugoslavia to it."

Responsible discussion of these possibilities in both diplomatic and newspaper circles does not derive from mere resentment at the failure of the French legislature to ratify the EDC treaty or from a desire to put pressure on the French to adopt a more co-operative attitude.

It reflects the revived influence of those who have been contending, since the Communists in Korea in 1950 showed their willingness to fight, that the United States should rely more on Germany's potential strength and less on a divided France for Western European defense.

Proposals for German rearmament, based on this thesis, were blocked in 1950 by French rejection and the substitution by the French of the EDC scheme.

The desire of many in Washington to restore sovereignty to Germany and organize a German defense contribution whether France approves or not derives from an analysis of the present French political and constitutional position.

It is pointed out that a bloc of Communist votes permitted the defeat of EDC. As State Secretary Dulles put it: "In one country nationalism abetted by Communism has asserted itself so as to endanger the whole of Europe."

It is regarded in Washington as entirely possible that a similar political combination could be used to prevent ratification by the French of any other agreements negotiated with France for the restoration of German sovereignty, for the admission of Germany into NATO or for German rearmament.

By GEN. MAXINE WEYGAND
Written for North American Newspaper Alliance

WHY am I resolutely opposed to ratification of the European Defense Treaty written in Paris in May, 1952? That is a question I am constantly asked.

I am against the treaty because it is not integrated into the Atlantic Pact which I consider to be the fundamental guarantee of a European defense organization.

There are also specific clauses in the treaty that I am most particularly against. They are those that would destroy national military sovereignty and step into the darkness of a European defense community represented by a commissariat in military affairs.

This community is not integrated into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization but only required under Article V to co-operate closely with it.

Let there be no mistake. I am for everything that will favor a future European union. But public opinion is not yet ripe for that. Our greatest need today is for national unity in the face of the menace from the east.

Unity of the French army and solidarity of the French union would be destroyed by EDC because the European army that is proposed would be only a facade—the defense of western Europe. This would oblige us to maintain other troops for the defense of the French union. These troops, because of financial considerations, would be less well equipped and maintained than the troops in the European army and would become their poor relations. This would be extremely detrimental to morale.

But I am for an organization of European defense forces and, for the participation of German troops in this organization.

My program—which I believe to be in accord with the recommendations of Marshal Alphonse Juin, allied commander in central Europe, and proposals in the bureau of the Senate and the National Assembly—is as follows:

An organization of European defense forces would be constituted within the framework of the Atlantic Pact. This coalition should form an integral part of the pact to insure harmonious working arrangements for the duration of the pact.

Let me make a comparison. Suppose my desk represents NATO. Then the European defense organization should be a drawer within it. All our efforts ought to be concentrated in reinforcing and strengthening the Atlantic Pact.

NATO functions today without complaint. We owe to it the progress that has been made up to now in the defense of the West and the creation of a coalition of armies.

A European army is a theoretical construction without any military value. Our present coalition of armies is a reality. The victorious campaign of 1918—under the leadership of Marshal Foch—and that of 1944-45, under Gen. Eisenhower, conducted as they were under quite different techniques of command, testify to the efficiency of this combination of forces.

My program obliges no abandonment of national sovereignty, except insofar as each state that is a member of NATO and a member of the organization of European forces, would concede to NATO the position of a sovereign power for the duration of the treaty.

Under my plan, the organization of European defense forces would be merely a vehicle of coalition. The propulsion would come from NATO by virtue of its power of control delegated to it, by member states, of authority over all common military problems.

Reports from Ottawa

FLUCTUATIONS in crops, markets and prices make food production one of the most financially hazardous businesses in which one can engage. But despite natural anxieties which producers are never loath to express, there are no more causes for concern this year than there were in 1953. And perhaps not as many. That's my own conclusion, after a poll of government officials here whose responsibilities encompass help and guidance in both production and marketing of foodstuffs. Some specialized farmers may disagree—but the broad, overall picture is not dark.

The wheat farmers probably have greater cause for concern than those in any other important branch of food production. Market prices are down from a year ago, and there's still a large unsold carryover from last year. Moreover, growers suffered from wet weather, rust and other misfortunes this year which have reduced both the size and quality of the crop.

But on the other hand, the prospects for selling wheat, oats and barley in foreign markets seem to be much better than a year ago. The main reason is that Europe's reserve stocks of grains are nearly all gone, and this year's crop in northern Europe is only poor to fair.

So far there's no problem with meat. Most of our surplus beef and pork is going to the U.S. and in quantities comparable with those of last year. Cattle prices are substantially lower than a couple of years ago, but they still provide a good return.

Hog prices are very good—so good, in fact, that many farmers are producing more hogs. As a result, a 15 to 20 per cent increase in hog marketing is expected this fall.

The same price factor has caused a similar jump in the U.S. hog population. This situation is bound to depress prices, but officials here expect that increased consumption at lower prices will prevent a market collapse.

The wet weather which plagued the grain farmers benefited the dairy farmers. Butter production is up 3 per cent, and stocks in storage are 16,000,000 pounds more than a year ago. However, officials here don't seem very concerned about this. There will be no fire sales, they say, indicating that the government likely will maintain the present 58 cents a pound floor price.

Despite a 6 per cent boost in cheese output, stocks are a million pounds less than a year ago, mainly because of British purchases. The 25 cents a pound the British will pay isn't as much as our producers want, but it's a lot better than an unsaleable surplus.

The apple crop promises to be a little bigger than last year's small crop. Chances look good for the British to buy Canadian apples this year—which they didn't do in 1953—and so relieve our surplus problem. The potato crop appears below average, and prices are rising.

Many sterling countries have removed or cut restrictions on our fish, and if our prices are competitive we'll have no great surplus problem there.

American restrictions on imports of fish sticks, oats, rye and alkali haven't hurt us much, but there's now a new threat to reduce imports of barley.

What these individual acts add up to, and what is causing grave concern in Ottawa, is a pattern of protectionism which could hurt us badly if the Republicans were to carry it far enough.

Prison and the Cat

(From the Daily Telegraph, London)

Sir—As an ex-convict who has served sentences at Wandsworth, Dartmoor and elsewhere, I may claim to have some "inside" knowledge about the causes of prison disturbances. The main cause is the great freedom allowed to prisoners while they are doing their sentences.

Talking among the prisoners is now almost universally allowed all the day. So far as nearly all of them are concerned, this is a bad thing, because they are able to plan, if they so choose, riots or attacks on prison officers or escapes.

Almost the only subject of interest among the men is crime and more crime. They plan "jobs" while they are inside and discuss methods.

If discipline were tightened up, admission to classes allowed only to well-behaved prisoners, and the privilege of talking very much curtailed, the prison system would benefit greatly.

Overcrowding is, certainly, an unfortunate feature of prison life, but its incidence is very apt to be magnified in assessing present-day prison misbehavior.

The one thing all prisoners fear is corporal punishment. For every attack on prison officers, a sentence of the cat should be automatically the punishment.

Yours faithfully,
Scotland. EX-CONVICT.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

A golf champion advises parents just to treat their children naturally. Plenty of wrist action, a stiff elbow and a good follow through does it.

A husband is a person who thinks being late for his meals is no trouble.

As a coffee salesman was waiting for a train in a small town he chatted with a lazy-looking man idling on a seat at the station. "Ever drink coffee," he inquired, with an eye to stirring up interest in his line.

The man admitted he drank a lot of coffee. Fifty cups a day.

"Fifty cups a day? Doesn't it keep you awake?" inquired the salesman.

"Well, it helps!" answered the lazy one.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

THE poverty of Tin Pan Alley was possibly never greater than at the present moment. Over the air, by sound and sight, are coming some of surely the most luscious "popular" songs that ever were written. The tunes wander around as aimlessly as flies on a window pane.

Let us not offend any one song writer by naming any particular composition. Let us offend them all.

The tunes are apparently written a bar at a time. The composer, sitting sweetly at the piano, if not in an open collared shirt, then perhaps in his pyjamas, picks out a bar the way you or I would pick out a pair of socks from our dresser drawer. He writes it down. Then he stares gloomily out the window over whatever part of the ramshackle New York skyline he can see, or whatever shoddy, over-strained section of the Los Angeles panorama offers itself to his view, and picks out another bar. Tin Pan Alley, we should now recollect, is a very long alley, tenuous, fragile, a kind of cow path that extends from coast to coast across the singing land to our south.

Having two bars written down, our composer tries for a third. And as you or I would hunt for a cuff-link we had dropped under the bed or the dresser or the chair, he gropes and fumbles around, no doubt in mental attitudes no less grotesque and uncomfortable than our bodily ones.

Just listen to one of the new songs and try to picture the poor soul in the process of writing it. Listen to the words and try to visualize the genius who penned them. Of course, music is an industry now, a very big one. Not only have they mass production of it, doubtless they have straight line production too, with word men sitting in one line, and noise men sitting in another. Each line passes the paper down the line, rapidly adding a word, a note of music, as it whips through his hands. Where the lines meet, as in any good factory, you've got a song.

But production must never be held up. Radio, TV and jukebox are the consumers. And you have got to keep them stuffed all the time, like chopping mills. They chop it all up in no time.

It may be a decade or more before the British Empire Games are held in Canada again. Perhaps by that time the CBC will be wise enough either to leave TV coverage of the Games to the professionals who must meet competitive standards or to hire cameramen and reporters of at least average competence.

It is difficult to think of any sports event with more sustained color and excitement than the Games, yet the staggering incompetence of the people selected by the CBC to televise it managed to turn a pulse-stirring spectacle into a chaos of disconnected pictures and wordy drivel.

That the camera work was blurred for a good part of the time did not matter too much, since the cameramen seemed interested in anything but the events being described by the announcers, while the latter obviously had made little or no effort to prepare themselves for the job of intelligent reporting that was needed to keep viewers properly informed about what was going on. They did not know enough about the events or the competitors to sustain an interesting commentary, but had to fall back on such enlightening remarks as "Gee, that man can run!"

To complete the wreck of what could have been a superb presentation, long and uninspired plugs for a commercial sponsor were inserted at the most inopportune moments. Incidentally, the CBC's reason for buying exclusive TV and radio rights to the Games was that it wanted to prevent private interests from exploiting the Games commercially or neglecting to give "adequate coverage."

This is not a minority report. Wallace Reyburn, the Canadian newspaper correspondent now living in England, had this to say after watching the first 50-minute telefilm of the Games: "Judged by the standard set by British television for such sports coverage, this Canadian television effort was appalling. . . . The whole thing was amateurish confusion."

The comment of the Montreal Gazette was typical: "Surely the British Empire Games was a spectacle that the CBC might have fully and competently given to the public, as part of the service that it exists to perform. Instead, the public was presented with a telecast with technical defects and inept announcing with the curtain rung down before the end."

The CBC, of course, doesn't give a hoot. It doesn't have to worry about competition.

Wants Price Control

One wonders how much longer the consumer is going to tolerate the present vicious and inequitable system of trading in goods and services required by man to enable him to exist.

The housewife is driven to distraction, week after week, by the constant increase in prices and has pretty well come to the end of her tether. Even the very necessities of life seem to excite the cupidty of the vendered consumer, producers, wholesalers or retailers who are evidently determined to exert the last pound of flesh out of their nefarious trading while the going is good.

In the writer's opinion the federal government is mainly responsible for the existing state of things for the following reasons:

1. Price control should have been reintroduced before inflation got out of hand. There is no such thing as free enterprise today as government bonuses some enterprises but lets others sink or swim; it also places a floor under the prices of some commodities but lets other find their own level according to the law of supply and demand.

2. The never ending demands of labor for increased wages, should be squelched by making strikes illegal until an arbitration board has settled on the merits or demerits of the demands. In any case it is high time labor realized the utter futility of constantly agitating for wages and shorter hours which, if granted only result in a corresponding increase in prices for everything they buy.

3. The elections should ensure, in no uncertain manner, any further evidence of the government's squandering of the taxpayers' money by entering into most unprofitable real and other produce deals where by many millions of dollars have been lost. In this connection millions of pounds of beef were disposed of in Europe in 1952 at a fraction of the cost of beef in the Canadian housewife. This one deal alone cost the Canadian taxpayer some $50,000,000.

New Immigrant

There seems to be a great welcome for a Polish immigrant to Canada.

But when I was an Irish immigrant to Canada six months ago, I did not get placed on any job as a great lot of help from any Canadian. I had to find one myself.

I worked in Toronto for two months for 30 dollars a week. Then myself and an Englishman tried our luck in Vancouver, but there were not very many to welcome us there. We walked the streets looking for work till all our money had gone; then we went to look for help at the immigrant office, but all we got there was five minutes to get out.

We were told that we were coming over here to run this country and not to work, so that is the help we got. Only for the Salvation Army and thanks to them we would have to sleep in the park till we got money from home. But if you are from an English-speaking nation do not ask help in Canada. All you just want is to be able to speak a foreign language and look foreign; then you are a Canadian citizen straight away.

School Buses

I very much regret your correspondent Mr. Deykin has chosen to take issue on my residential status and ignore the principles involved. I realize there is a school which resents comments from newcomers to Canada but I am not a "yes-man" and can see no impertinence in reasonable criticism. That there is support for my views is confirmed by your correspondent Mr. Severson, an educationalist with a lifetime of experience. I, in turn, have spent my life in the transport world and can visualize costs and methods of operation which may not be readily apparent to laymen.

Referring to the editorial in the Colonist on Saturday—I regret that a blanket ruling is being issued by Mr. Williston's department, which will be interpreted in a different way by every school board and thus creating different conditions for children, according to their fortune in residence.

Mr. Deykin is, of course, wrong about my contribution to school costs. One per cent of the sales tax goes to education costs and I believe I have contributed a sufficiency to be entitled to an opinion.

On the question of Duncan's survival to be brutally frank—I could not care less!

Germany's Decision

Is there not a piercing vision which detects truth, and has it not come to one man, a Frenchman, of Old Testament descent, and which has been denied to fumbling governments?

Russia has been spread across Europe since 1945, on the defense against a geared Germany. He had the presence to foresee it would be attempted. If EDC had been consummated she likely would strike first.

There is two presented to Germany the most outstanding decision since Europe maintained standing armies; to offer to remain disarmed if her neighbors plan immediately to do likewise. She would step into the world's regard, by giving a lead to international peace, which is the desire of all mankind.

For Shame!

After Mrs. Alldorf's untiring efforts to support and aid the Sea Cadets by her display of beautiful paintings on Saturday and Sunday at the Dominion Hotel, it was too bad that not one of the Sea Cadet Corps or their officers saw fit to attend or lend a hand fetching and taking home the display. Such behavior on their part does not make for future efforts on their behalf. Thanks are due to Capt. Taylor for opening the affair.

Credit to Anscomb

You refer to the late Mr. E. C. Carson, minister of public works in the Coalition government as having been the man "who broke through the former vicious political cycle of patronage in the road problems of the province."

While much credit is given to the five years in which Mr. Carson controlled the destinies of the public works system, the facts are that at no time during his administration did he have anything whatever to do with the laying down of any highway plans. He succeeded to a well-established plan which had been already set in motion by his predecessor and he, Mr. Carson, carried it out as his predecessor had set it up.

Actually all the credit for the plan itself should go to Mr. Herbert Anscomb who as minister of public works from 1942 to 1947 laid out the plan. Immediately on Mr. Anscomb's appointment as the minister of public works he got to grips with the road problem of the province, set up a highway board composed of senior engineers in the government at that time and drafted a very comprehensive program of all the major highways, north and south, east and west, and his paper with other B.C. newspapers gave much publicity to the plan.

So gigantic was it that it was then estimated the cost if carried out at that time would be approximately $210,000,000, a sum much larger than the then provincial debt and that is what staggered the imagination. However Mr. Anscomb went to work, commenced it and included in it the construction of the Hope-Princeton Highway which particular work was brought to fruition when he was later minister of finance, a portfolio he assumed after handing over the Dept. of Public Works to Mr. Carson, whom he, Mr. Anscomb appointed to that portfolio.

While this does not in any way detract from the excellent work Mr. Carson did during his period, the credit should go where it rightfully belongs.

As a matter of fact the major road plan has not been changed and is still being carried by the present administration.

Doctors Can't Tell Yet How Polio Vaccine Worked

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Preliminary reports on effectiveness of the Salk polio vaccine range from "very encouraging" to "much too soon" to tell.

These are the comments of medical men across the U.S. and Canada in areas where the vaccine was administered to 438,000 school children earlier this year.

Health officers show a general tendency to keep their fingers crossed until complete returns are in.

SOME CASES FOUND

In some districts there have been polio cases among those vaccinated. But health authorities say the patients might have contracted the ailment before receiving all three Salk shots.

The U.S. National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is withholding comment on effectiveness of the vaccine until it gets a report on a survey conducted independently at the University of Michigan.

A spokesman for the foundation said the polio season has not yet reached its peak, and advised against any premature findings.

NO REPORT

In Edmonton health officials said it is too early for reports on how the vaccine worked. Dr. E. S. Smith, director of the province's polio survey committee, said results will not be known until next spring.

Between 19,000 and 20,000 doses were given to Alberta school children.

IMPOSSIBLE TO TELL

In Winnipeg a Manitoba health authority said it is "quite impossible" to draw any conclusions yet.

Dr. M. R. Elliott, deputy minister of health, said there is "nothing to go on." About 7,500 Manitoba school children were inoculated, one half with the Salk vaccine and one half with water.

Drunken Duchess Starts Last Trip

LIVERPOOL (Reuters). — A biggest salvage operations ever burned-out bulk, the last of carried out in Britain at a cost of 1,000,000. The "Duchess," sailed down the River Mersey under tow Wednesday on the last voyage of her career.

Barely recognizable, the 20,000-ton liner Empress of Canada, her plus towing charges, formerly the Duchess of Richmond, is on her way to Italy to be broken up for scrap.

Only a few dockworkers paused momentarily to say goodbye to the ship which had been a familiar sight in Liverpool until one Sunday in January, 1953, when she caught fire and capsized in Gladstone dock, ending 24 years of service.

As the Duchess of Richmond, the liner was the third of four luxury steamships ordered from the Clyde shipyards in the 1920s by Canadian Pacific Steamships.

The others, the Duchess of Bedford, Duchess of York and Duchess of Atholl, were lost during the Second World War. The design of the hulls gave them a tendency to roll in heavy seas and they were known in thousands of transatlantic travelers as the "Drunken Duchesses."

After the war, the Canadian Pacific gave the Duchess of Richmond a face-lifting and a coat of white paint, and elevated her to the Empress of Canada—and it was under that name that she came to her fiery end.

The previous Empress of Canada was torpedoed in 1943, some 400 miles off Freetown in West Africa.

After the 1953 fire, the Empress of Canada lay on her side, burned out and broken, with only her propellers visible. She was lifted off her side this year and refloated in one of the

Visitor Tops Tyee Record

has broken this year's record among tyee sports fishermen in this area.

Ray F. Etten, insurance agent, boated a 59-pound salmon in Nahmint Bay while fishing with Floyd Kemp, also of Spokane, and A. W. Galipeau, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

Mr. Etten, who has fished lakes and ocean on this side of the border for 28 years, weighed his catch in at Nahmint Fishing Lodge and claims he will be back soon to get another.

The three visitors caught four tyees, each over 40 pounds, during a two-day stay. Mr. Etten had not taken out membership in the Port Alberni Tyee Club, so is not in line for the weekly club trophy.

CAMPBELL RIVER—B.C. Airlines at Campbell River was busy Tuesday with three minor logging casualties. Peter Lauren and Bob Langdon piloted them to Lourdes Hospital where they are all in good condition.

Jay Tancowmy, employed by the George River Logging Company, George Creek, had one finger crushed off his left hand. Details of the accident were not available.

COBBLE HILL—Plans are being completed for the 45th annual fall fair, sponsored by the Shawigan-Cobble Hill Farmers' Institute and Agricultural Society, to be held at Cobble Hill, September 8.

New buildings are under construction and clearing is completed on a piece of ground acquired this year.

Herbert Bruch, M.L.A., is being invited to open the fair, which promises to be better than ever.

Many new classes have been added to the long list of show divisions, and the indoor features will equal, and probably outnumber, any other year.

An extensive list of prizes is being offered, cash donations, special prizes and scrip prizes have been donated by individuals and merchants and firms of the district, Duncan and Victoria.

School Trustees Rap Bus Policy

LADYSMITH—Education Minister Ray Williston is gambling with the lives of children in setting a blanket policy which requires that small children shall walk two and one-half to three miles to school.

This is the opinion of the board of school trustees of District 67 (Ladysmith), which will write the minister refusing to accept responsibility for implementing the policy pertaining to bus transportation. One member of the board questioned the legality of the policy which he declared should go before the legislative assembly.

"Ninety per cent of the roads are not made for present day traffic. There are no sidewalks on rural roads. There are no walking spaces. Who will assume responsibility for safety. Someone will get killed, you can be sure of that."

These are but a few of the statements made by members of the board in expressing their concern.

PORT ALBERNI—Arrangements have been made for opening the Horse Lake area to hunters on the coming week end which will see commencement of the blue grouse season.

Tom Jones, president of Alberni District Fish and Game Association, has asked re-operation of hunters in the matter of fire prevention in the area, first of the MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. holdings to be opened for hunting this year.

Quota System Explained

Farmers Informed Island Due To Be Named Bang's-Free Area

COBBLE HILL—Vancouver Island, which has 14,000 head of cattle representing an investment of $10,000,000, is to be proclaimed a Bang's disease-free area, Henry Robinson, secretary-manager of the Vancouver Island Milk Producers' Association, told members of the Shawigan-Cobble Hill Farmers' Institute.

Explaining the quota system of milk marketing, Mr. Robinson said island producers, by increasing production, could obtain larger quotas, thereby forcing Fraser Valley milk out of the island market.

He emphasized the need for a market for "secondary milk," or the surplus over the needed quota.

He said a cheese plant in the southern Cowichan district of the north end of the Saanich peninsula would take care of the surplus milk of both these areas. Surplus milk, which is practically a loss to the producer, can be used in cheese, cottage cheese, ice cream and other products.

Mr. Robinson said there is need for more fluid milk, and that island producers could

Waterworks Change Presents Problem

NANAIMO—Harewood district takes over the water distribution system within its own boundaries September 1 from the city of Nanaimo. Since that date falls within a quarterly period for the payment of water rates, finance committee of city council has recommended that maintain the system for the month of September.

This would avoid complicated division of receipts for the month.

Council's fire committee has agreed on a valuation of the services of volunteer firemen for the purpose of determining contributions and benefits under the Workmen's Compensation Act. The value of firemen who sleep at the station was placed at $30 monthly. Ordinary volunteers were rated at $10 a month.

Fire Chief Colin MacArthur will represent the city at the regional conference of the National Fire Protection Association convention in Seattle September 20, 21 and 22.

EMERGENCY AID

The city will not provide fire-fighting services for the federal provincial vocational training school. The fire department, the committee pointed out, is primarily for the protection of property in the city. The vocational school is well outside the city boundaries. The committee added, however, that emergency assistance would be given. The school pays an annual fee of $100 to the Harewood volunteer fire department for fire protection.

The Nanaimo branch of the regional library will be getting a little refurbishing by the city. Tenders of $940 by Wheeler & Son for redecorating and of $238 by J. H. Good for laying linoleum were approved by council Monday night.

The Arena Commission has asked the city for an advance of $2,500 to cover operating costs until winter revenue begins to roll in.

SUPPORT REQUEST

Council will support the request of the Nanaimo civil defense organization for approval of its annual budget as originally submitted to the provincial secretary. Civil defense officials told council they could not operate under the budget as amended by Victoria. They requested $3,960 but the government reduced this by $1,200.

Supporting the organization's plea for the original amount, Ald. Elsie Hall said, "Our civil defense group is a hard-working body, giving lots of time with no recompense. I think we should comply with their request."

The town planning commission has recommended approval of the application of Lionel Good for permission to erect a service station. The commission will be asked to meet with council for further discussion. Mr. Good's property is adjacent to the new Trans-Canada Highway route through the city.

Mrs. Edith Chesterman's protest to council on the rezoning of the area in which she lives on Mount Benson Street to permit building of motels was filed Monday night. The area was originally zoned as residential.

"NO MAN'S LAND"

Fifteen residents of the area at the south end of Victoria Road, View Street and Robins Street have asked for their district to be taken into the city of Nanaimo. At present they are in a "no man's land."

Nanaimo Hotels

Get Licenses

New licenses previously approved by the Liquor Control Board for two Nanaimo hotels were formally issued yesterday.

The Malaspina Hotel received dining lounge and lounge licenses. A dining room license was sent to the Plaza Hotel.

Dining room licenses also went to The Grill, Kimberley; the Shasta Cafe, Prince George; and the Emerald Lake Chalet near Field.

Delegates chosen to attend the District "A" convention in Nanaimo were S. D. Dougan, G. Braithwaite, S. J. Hill, Mrs. Braithwaite and Mrs. E. Bamber, with R. Bewell as alternate. Executive members who will attend are W. Dunn, S. Wallace, A. T. Moirerwell and Miss Melrose.

The institute will submit a resolution seeking farmer representation on the game commission, and will endorse resolutions from the Cowichan Agricultural Society.

Island Fish-Stocking Considered

DUNCAN—The provincial game commission is investigating the advisability of stocking various island waters with fish fry, and the B.C. forest service is developing plans to improve roadside camping facilities with in the highway right-of-way for restocking of Cowichan.

Cowichan Night School Offers Course In Home Building at Request of VLA

DUNCAN—A "build-your-own-home" course will be offered by the night school of District 63 (Cowichan) in the coming term.

The school board Monday night approved the course, requested by the federal government. The proposal was put to the board by G. L. Chatterton, VLA regional supervisor.

VLA officials will co-operate with the school board by providing a syllabus, teaching material such as plans and detail sheets, and will arrange for specialist instructors if necessary.

Along with regular night school classes, the home building course will start in October. A tentative class limit of 35 has been set.

The course will be the same as that given in Victoria for the last five years. Amendments to the Veterans' Land Act have directed that courses be given in every large centre on Vancouver Island. Mr. Chatterton informed the board.

The meeting was specially called to deal with a department of education directive on transportation, but the trustees found the directive too difficult to interpret in specific terms.

Lack of telephone service on Mount Sicker Road near Chemainus was reported to be holding back the development of settling of that district. An appeal will be made to the B.C. Telephone Company to put in service to the 12 families already isolated there.

COMPARATIVE DATA

R. H. Winter, federal minister of public works, in a letter to the chamber, said that he has instructed his officers to obtain comparative data regarding the need for additional lumber ship wharves at Cowichan Bay. The minister said he would consider the cost of additional wharves in relation to the value of the project.

BEAR QUEEN'S PORTRAIT

New Banknotes Will Be Circulating by Next Week

OTTAWA (CP) — The first Canadian bank notes to bear the portrait of the Queen will go into circulation next week.

About $40,000,000 worth of the common denominations such as $1 and $2 notes have been or will be distributed—the Bank of Canada will not say more.

That, said a Bank of Canada official, is a modest supply to replace old notes that are no longer usable.

It is the start of a change-over involving about 160,000,000 notes worth about $1,500,000,000. That is the average amount in circulation at any given time.

The colors of the two-tone notes are deeper and richer, but basically the same. Typical Canadian scenes, representing agriculture, hydro power and other aspects of Canadian development, have replaced symbols of the past.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Day in and day out, the most widely read sports page story is the one about the major league pennant races. This is a bit of a tribute to the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers. Were they leading by the same margins as the Cleveland Indians and New York Giants in their respective leagues most fans would have to agree.

respect for the defending champions and interest will be sustained until the mathematical clinching.

The odds against either repeating are big. If the Indians can win 11 of their remaining 22 games, the Yankees need to take 16 of 23 to tie. The Indians are more likely to win about 15, which would mean the Yankees could then only lose three times. And it's the same in the National League, where 500 baseball by the Giants in the last 24 games would mean that the Dodgers need 15 of 23 to tie. It will take a slump by the leaders and a surge by the runners-up to change the present positions but it's still too early to concede any advantage in the remaining schedule to either of the pursuing teams.

Cleveland plays 14 of its remaining 22 games at home while the Yankees have only nine left at Yankee Stadium and still face a western trip. But the champs have a fine road record and a bit the best of it otherwise.

The Indians have 13 games against the first division clubs—six each against the Chicago White Sox and Detroit Tigers and three against the Yankees. Their overall record against the top teams is a rather shabby 26-25 with the White Sox holding a 9-7 edge, the Yankees ahead by 10-9 and the Tigers tough at 6-10.

By comparison, the Yankees are 38-21 against the other first-division clubs and only have to play them in seven games, two each against Chicago and Detroit in addition to the three against Cleveland. The champs have six left with both the Philadelphia Athletics and Washington Senators and they hold 14-2 and 10-6 margins, respectively, over those two clubs.

In the National League, the Dodgers get their big chance in the six games remaining with the Giants. Five wins would make up their present deficit on the losing side but even four would still give them a good chance.

Brooklyn has seven games left with Pittsburgh Pirates while the Giants have completed play with the trailers. On the other hand, the Dodgers have no games left with the Phils while the Giants have no less than nine, six of them in Philadelphia. And, although they hold an 11-2 edge so far, the Phils should be tougher than the Pirates. Then there is a small edge in that the Giants have three left with the still-hopeful Milwaukee Braves while the Dodgers play them but still hold 14-2 and 10-6 margins, respectively, over those two clubs.

Random Harvest

Jack Bionda has received notice from the Toronto Maple Leafs to report to their training camp on September 14 and the Shamrocks are wondering how they can arrange to have their colorful forward on hand should they reach the Mann Cup final. Bionda is ticketed for a chance in the AHL this season. The Mann Cup final, incidentally, will certainly be played in the east if Peterborough Trailermen are the eastern finalists but there remains an outside chance that it might be played here if either Hamilton or St. Catharines come out on top.

Fred Fulla, who did a great job for Nanaimo Native Sons this season, is the most likely winner of the Leo Nicholson Memorial Trophy, awarded each year to the top Inter-City Lacrosse League goalkeeper. Ron Delmonico of Vancouver Pilemovers will probably win the Bayley Memorial Trophy as the choice for the season's best rookie but if Indians Harold Fox had seen more action, he'd be a cinch. He has the ability to become a really fine player. New Westminster Royals have five centre men and the Cougars, who could use additional strength down the middle, wouldn't mind getting one of them. If Canadian soccer officials have a chance to get Moscow Dynamics they should certainly accept. Fans would welcome a change from O.C. teams and the Dynamics would certainly pack them in. They are already recognized as being among the world's best and there certainly wouldn't be any loss of prestige, or any converts to Communism either, if they went every game in Canada. . . . Willard Nixon, erratic right-hander of the Boston Red Sox, and Gene Conley, the six-foot, eight-inch Milwaukee rookie, may have done more about deciding the major league pennant winners than any one player. Nixon boasts a 4-0 record against the Yankees but it's 0-5 against Cleveland. Conley has started, completed, and won five games against the Dodgers. . . . Dixie Dean continues to butcher the English language as a baseball commentator. Only Tuesday he came out with this classic: "I see where statistics (statistics) show the Braves have won more games on the road than at home. That's unusual for a home team."

GUESSING DEPARTMENT: Yankees, Senators, Dodgers and Phils in the major leagues, and Fletchers in senior "A" softball. Bating average to date: At bat 644, hits 451, percentage .700.

Four Teams Entered In Island Puck Loop

The Vancouver Island Hockey League, which went under the name of the Victoria Commercial League last season, will operate with four teams acting president Doug Fletcher has announced.

Entries have been received from Frank Crane's Nanaimo Clippers, Merchants, Navy and Victoria V's—the same four teams which fought it out last season.

PLAY MONDAY NIGHTS

The league will probably open the second or third week in October with all games in Victoria being played on Monday nights and games in Nanaimo possibly being played every Saturday night.

Fletcher also said that Crane had informed him that all of last year's Nanaimo players would be back. A report from Vancouver Tuesday had said that Nanaimo would enter a four-team Pacific Coast senior amateur hockey league and that Frank King, Nanaimo lacrosse player who saw action with Sudbury Wolves last year, had been appointed coach.

TO COACH ROYALS

Tentative plans for the new league which would embrace Nanaimo, Vancouver, Seattle and Tacoma, were discussed at an organization meeting at Vancouver Tuesday night with Frank Dotten, Seattle sports promoter and newly-

Indians Hustle To Stay in Battle

PNE Indians showed a near-capacity house at Memorial Arena last night that they are far from out of the best-of-seven Inter-City Lacrosse playoff final as they hustled to a 12-9 victory over the Victoria Shamrocks. Checking was heavy and the action heated at times as Indians won their first game

back the front-running Cleveland Indians, 4-1.

In boosting his season's record to 12-4 and marking up his 40th lifetime victory over the Indians, the stylish south-paw gave a great display of clutch pitching as the Yankees moved back to within four-and-a-half games of Cleveland.

BERRA HOMERS

The Yankees managed only six hits off two pitchers but used five of them in their two scoring innings. A pinch double by Eddie Robinson, after Yogi Berra and Eddie Robinson had singled, drove in the first two runs and Berra smashed a two-run homer after Mickey Mantle had singled.

Although in frequent trouble, Lopat often had the Indians swinging ineffectively at his pitches as he spaced nine hits. The Indians loaded the bases with none out in the sixth but Lopat struck out Lefty Doby, got Al Rosen on a pop-up and forced Vic Wertz in ground out.

The first two batters in the seventh inning reached base but Lopat again tightened up and escaped without a run. The only Cleveland run came in the third inning when Jim Hegan tripled and scored after a 425-foot sacrifice fly by starting pitcher Mike Garcia.

Meanwhile, the first-place New York Giants and the run-rup Brooklyn Dodgers both went down to defeat while Milwaukee Braves kept their slim hopes alive for a National League pennant with a 3-1 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Cincinnati lashed out with a 13-hit attack against seven pitchers to whip the Giants, 9-7, but the Dodgers remained three-and-a-half games behind and dropped their third straight game by losing to Chicago, 9-5.

The Giants, who used 21 players, tried hard to put on one of their patented ninth-inning drives but the three-run rally fell short. Alvin Dark sparked it with a two-run homer but pinch-hitter Bill Gardner ended the rally by popping out on the tying runs on base.

Brooklyn helped Chicago to its seventh straight victory by contributing four errors, three of them in the sixth inning when the Cubs poured over four runs.

Southpaw Warren Spahn sparked the Braves to their victory as he scattered six hits and won his ninth straight game to push his season's record to 17-10.

Duncan Knots Series As Al Smith Sparkles

(Special to The Colonist)

DUNCAN—Al Smith hurled eight and one-third hitless innings in relief against Fletchers here Wednesday night as Duncan Mayo Lumber forced a deciding game in the best-of-five series for the Vancouver Island senior "A" men's softball championship.

Given little chance against the powerful Victoria champions when the series opened, the Lumbermen continued to surprise as they pinned a 5-3 defeat on Fletchers and squared the series at two games each.

Deciding game of the series will be played at Victoria's Royal Athletic Park tonight at 7:15 with Fletchers expected to start ace right-hander Ed Foychuck on the mound and Duncan probably nominating Barry Jackson as their mound choice.

Smith relieved Jackson with two out and three runs across in the first inning and completely handcuffed the visitors.

He struck out two, walked none and the only Fletcher batsman to reach first was Ken Gunter, who got on through an error in the seventh inning.

Jackson, who has started all four games of the series, flushed two of them and won one, proved no puzzle as he was tagged for singles by Verne Evans, Bernie Clarkson and Les Wilson. A walk and an error helped Fletchers to their three runs.

But Duncan came right back with two runs in the bottom of the first and made it 3-3 with a single tally in the fifth frame. Fletchers' defence fell apart in the seventh inning as three errors, a walk and a single by Wally Thorne resulted in the runs that broke the deadlock.

Fielding highlight was provided by Thorne when he grabbed Chick Newman's sizing liner in the seventh inning and fell on first base to double off Gunter.

Ab Wiebe started for the losers, was replaced by Norm Martin in the fifth inning but returned to the mound in the sixth when Martin walked the first two batters.

Saanich Nips Fernwood; Blue Bombers Win, 14-9

Saanich remained in contention in the best-of-seven series for the city bantam lacrosse championship last night by edging Fernwood, 11-10, at Memorial Arena.

Fernwood, which holds a 3-2 series lead, almost pulled out a victory by outscoring Saanich 3-1 in the final quarter after being four goals down at one stage of the game.

League director Doug Fletcher announced last night that the bantam all-star team will hold a workout at Memorial Arena Friday at 2 p.m.

Firing four goals in the final two minutes, Blue Bombers downed Young Shamrocks, 14-9, at Stevenson Park to square the best-of-three series for the city

Tribe Protects Early Margin To Whip Rocks

Jake Proctor's PNE Indians, facing almost certain oblivion if they lost, moved back into contention in the Inter-City Lacrosse League playoff final last night at Memorial Arena, outplaying Victoria Shamrocks, 12-9, before a crowd of 5,400.

It was the first win in three games for the Mainland club as it extended the best-of-seven series to at least five games. Fourth game will be at Vancouver's Kerrisdale Arena tomorrow night and the fifth here on Monday.

Indians were full value for the win. Backed by a fine performance in goal by Stan Joseph, they held the best-scoring Rocks to a lone goal in the first half with solid defensive play and piled up a 6-1 lead. They were threatened twice by a rallying Victoria club in the second half but they came back each time to prevent the losers from getting any closer than three goals.

On the other hand, the Shamrocks had few players operating at top form and were guilty of some bad checking which allowed the alert Indians to move in on goalie George Johnston to make 12 of 25 shots good. Only in the fourth quarter, when the game broke wide open after it had been lost, did they manage to outscore the hard-checking Mainland club.

The Rocks also saw their odd-man play stopped cold. Indians played it safe penalty-wise and played shorthanded only twice but the Islanders didn't come close, failing to get even one shot on their last chance. But a first-quarter penalty to Jack Thompson saw the Indians take advantage to score three times and extend a 3-0 lead to 6-1.

Mel Jones broke around Thompson for the important first goal at 1:18 and Ken Jones made it 2-0 at 3:18 when his hard shot was only partially stopped by Johnston. Indians then stalled off a penalty to Harold Fox before Joe Durante slipped by Larry Booth for their third goal.

Thompson was called for high-sticking at 14:34 and Mario Crema, as solid a performer as there was on the floor, took a pass from Durante to make it 4-0.

Norm Baker finally solved Joseph by scoring with a screened shot just as he was covered over by Proctor, and less than a second from the end of the quarter but Durante set up Mel Jones and Fox in the first minute of the second quarter.

The Rocks panicked here and their desperation lacrosse made it easy for the Indians to regain possession most of the quarter and take a five-goal lead into the second half. Victoria only managed two shots on Joseph in the 15 minutes and appeared a well-beaten team.

However, the Rocks made a move as the third quarter opened and only a couple of great stops by Joseph saved the day for the Indians. He blocked Archie Browning from the edge of the crease before Whitey Severson and Tom Druce scored 32 seconds apart in the fifth minute.

Called off Tuesday night, the sponsor planned to have last night's TV time occupied by films, but decided yesterday to have live fights instead of the films.

Accordingly, Justine and Davis were asked to fight, and another six-rounder was arranged to follow them on the National TV hookup. The other six-rounder was a draw between featherweights Bobby Bell of Youngstown, O., and Ike Chestnut of New York.

Each of the four fighters in tonight's TV bouts received $1,500. The last night, had it been staged last night, would have cost the sponsor $40,000.

Trailermen To Meet St. Catharines

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Lacrosse Association announced Wednesday night that the best-of-seven senior league finals between St. Catharines Athletics and Peterborough Trailermen will open in St. Catharines Friday night.

The two clubs reached the final Wednesday night by finishing in a first-place tie in the round-robin semifinals.

The winner of the series enters the Mann Cup final for the Canadian title.

Televised 'Studio Fight' Makes Boxing History

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—George Justine, stocky Philadelphia Negro welterweight, won the first nationally televised "studio fight" in ring history Wednesday night on a split six-round decision over Elwood Davis of Philadelphia before 2,050 free customers at "The Met" club.

Justine scaled 140 pounds to Davis' 143 for the TV attraction which was a last-minute replacement for the postponed welterweight title fight between Champion Kid Gavilan of Cuba and Johnny Saxton of New York.

No Invitation to Dynamos For Canadian Soccer Tour

WINNIPEG (CP)—George Anderson, secretary of the Football Association of Canada, said here yesterday that the famed Moscow Dynamos soccer club would "definitely not be offered an invitation to tour Canada next year."

Anderson was commenting on a statement in Montreal by Jack MacNamara, Quebec member of the Canadian Football Association's council, who said the Dynamos had made a tentative bid for a Canadian series at a special meeting here last week end.

He said England's Arsenal team had sent an informal note asking for an invitation to tour Canada.

Burnley of the English League and two Scottish teams, Hearts and Aberdeen, have written formal letters requesting a similar invitation, Anderson said.

Victoria Teams Enter Mainland Rugby Loop

In an effort to develop more interest in English rugby in the Victoria area, the Victoria Rugby Union has entered the mainland loop. The union's first game was a 10-0 victory over the Nanaimo team at the Victoria Sports Ground last night.

Approximately 100 spectators were present for the match. The Victoria team was captained by Bill Smith, and the Nanaimo team by John Smith.

The Victoria team will play another game on September 12th against the Nanaimo team.

Remember When: Byron Nelson won the American Professional Golfers' Association title 14 years ago today at Hershey, Pa., with a final tee shot that landed only six feet from the pin. He started the final round three up on Sam Snead but was one stroke behind on the 32nd hole. Nelson went one up at the 31st, when Snead's 30-foot putt bounced out of the cup, and he held his advantage to the finish.

After Tillicums had tied the score at 22 with a run in the top of the ninth inning, Fosters pitched a perfect game, winning 3-2.

Just 15 Years Have Passed Since Hitler Invaded Poland

BONN, Germany (AP) — Adolf Hitler started the Second World War 15 years ago Wednesday.

In the chilly dawn of September 1, 1939, his troops invaied Poland, plunging Europe into war. It is an unmarked date on the most strategic crossroads of Europe.

It still waits for sovereignty. Only two days ago, Germany's dreams of early independence were shattered when France invaded by the Ger-

Cities that were reduced to rubble by air and ground attack have been built up again. Industry that was brought to a standstill is booming. The people have hope again.

But some scars of war still mark the face of Germany. The

When we moved to our present house, one of the things that sold me was the sunroom. It sticks out into the backyard. "BOY," I said to the G.F. "what a swell place to baby along my chrysanthemums." For Pete's sake, gasped Trude. "You gonna grow those things again?" last time we had to get on the step-ladder to see 'em. Well, I never got to grow 'em 'cause TV came along, and they turned it into a little theatre. It's got an archway with the TV set under, & now all we need is some sliding silk curtains, and you'd think you were in the movies, specially with Trude munching her sunflower-seeds.

"The Store Women Believe In"

A PADRE IN PRINT

BY REV. WILLIAM HILLS

Alastair Mars, DSO, DSC and bar, was a Dartmouth type who forgot that only admirals can put telescopes to their eyes and get away with it.

If the record of his encounter with the Admiralty, Whitehall, was only half as dramatic as he has made it, then Gilbert and Sullivan have written better than they knew.

The only trouble is that what appears to be very funny on the stage can be absolutely tragic in life.

It is one thing to pass a melodious hour with the man who polished up the handles on the big front door.

It is another to digest the almost incredible record of the RN's treatment—post-war—of one of its most brilliant submarine commanders.

"Padre," said a friend, "if you want to read a book about submarines with no mock heroes and the well-known flannel, get hold of Alastair Mars' 'Unbroken'."

And that was how I met the man.

There have been many books written about the war. Some of them were churned out to make a few dollars, others to capture in print those memories which the passage of time assassinates.

No matter how bitter Alastair Mars may feel today, in "Unbroken" he has celebrated the spirit and the men who have made the White Ensign the symbol of fortitude, courage, resourcefulness and devotion to duty.

Curiously enough, this same submarine crossed my path, but I didn't know it.

It happened in Scapa Flow toward the end of July, 1914.

As Nabob was tethered to Able Eight buoy, we were ordered to "cheer ship" for the passage of HMS Royal Sovereign through the anchorage.

She had been turned over to the Russians, on her way to Murmansk, and had been renamed "Archangel."

With her went three submarines, all part of this lend-lease arrangement, Ursula, Union and Unbroken.

But "Unbroken" was Mars' first book. His second is something of a shock. It is called "Court Martial."

I can only presume that it is factually true, for names, places and times are all set down for the record, and the laws of libel are energetically applied in England.

It is not a pleasant thing to read. One can only wonder at the process of events which drove such a gallant commander to his knees beside his bed in the psychiatric ward of Netley Military Hospital.

"I am a God-fearing man," he writes, "but not a particularly religious one, and I have always believed that to pray too late is worse than not to pray at all—a selfish discourtesy to God. But now I know I must have help. I got out of my bed, humbly sank to my knees and prayed for strength to see the night through."

"As I knelt before my Maker the depression fled."

Royal Visitors Charm Crowds

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The Duchess of Kent and Princess Alexandra charmed Londoners Wednesday when they drove through the city.

More than 2,000 cheering spectators crowded flag-decked Dundas Street at the city hall when the duchess and her daughter arrived.

A tense moment arose as the royal pair stepped out of the elevator on the second floor and a flash of city hall when an unidentified cameraman worked his lens. The man was ejected.

Lawyers Extend Guarded Backing To New Angle in Murder Cases

WINNIPEG (CP)—Recognizing the condition actually exists, guarding medical evidence, legal and lawyers have backed an over-pressing inner. The Canadian Bar Association's criminal justice section at recognizing an over-pressing inner compulsion as a possible defense in murder cases was given Wednesday. "Whatever be the truth re-

"If it exists, logic, common sense and justice combine to demand its inclusion as a possible defense. If the legal machine is to deal with it, it can be advised. This should include consequent detention unless an undisputable and unshakable cure can be proven."

But the paper presented by the Nova Scotia sub-section of the criminal justice section wasn't too hopeful of an acceptable formula.

After repeating that if there is such a thing as "irresistible impulse" it must, in justice, be admitted as a defense, the paper said:

"This still leaves unanswered the question is irresistible impulse known to medical science."

"In any case, it is one defense which should require proof beyond a reasonable doubt."

A Manitoba paper on the same subject, presented by Winnipeg lawyer Israel Nitzman, said as a broad generalization there are two classes of insane persons:

Those over whom the threats and prohibitions of the criminal law would exercise no control and those whose form of insanity is only such that they would not yield to it if a policeman had been at their elbow.

He added: "This classification has merit but where does the dividing line come? The attitude of civilization toward the insane is slowly but constantly changing. It varies in different countries and under different circumstances."

Medical science is becoming more and more familiar with this problem and today we find a substantial distinction between the medical and legal interpretation of the words."

The section sent it along to the resolutions committee. If that committee approves it, the resolution will be debated Saturday by the general meeting of the association.

The resolution says that for a number of years the B.C. and Saskatchewan sections have requested changes in the grounds for divorce in the two provinces.

WINNIPEG (CP)—A British Columbia resolution recommending that desertion, cruelty and incurable insanity be recognized as grounds for divorce was presented Wednesday to the civil justice section of the Canadian Bar Association.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Major Gen. F. F. Worthington, federal civil defense co-ordinator, said Tuesday he expects mass evacuation tests soon will be conducted in Vancouver and Winnipeg under a plan to prepare Canadian cities for possible H-bomb attacks.

"Vancouver and Winnipeg have volunteered to act as guinea pigs for the mass evacuation experiments," he said.

"They have expressed a desire to be in on the initial studies and our present plans are to launch them at those two points."

However, a report that Vancouver would make its test this fall was denied by Air Vice-Marshal F. V. Heakes, Vancouver civil defense co-ordinator.

General Worthington said the experiments do not call for the mass evacuation of an entire city.

"We expect to take only a segment of a city for the first test," he said. "This will allow us to develop the technique which will be necessary to evacuate an entire city."

WINNIPEG (CP)—Hangings at county jails should be abolished, a New Brunswick report on capital punishment said Wednesday.

The report was presented to the administration of criminal justice branch of the Canadian Bar Association by John T. Carvell of Moncton, N.B.

Mr. Carvell said the New Brunswick group which studied capital punishment unanimously supports a resolution which condemns county jails as being "inadequate and improper places for execution."

The report calls instead for the establishment of "central, specially equipped and expertly manned places of execution."

Mr. Carvell said the majority agree "the infliction of the death penalty was a horrible and usually scandalous affair and that it ought to be restricted."

"They have expressed a desire to be in on the initial studies and our present plans are to launch them at those two points."

However, a report that Vancouver would make its test this fall was denied by Air Vice-Marshal F. V. Heakes, Vancouver civil defense co-ordinator.

General Worthington said the experiments do not call for the mass evacuation of an entire city.

"We expect to take only a segment of a city for the first test," he said. "This will allow us to develop the technique which will be necessary to evacuate an entire city."

Flashing Jets Draw All Eyes

Thousands at Patricia Bay Airport yesterday afternoon saw a C-119 Flying Boxcar at close range during lulls in a breath-taking display by Canada's crack jet fliers. Shortly after the show opened with a supersonic bang as the sound barrier was pierced by a Sabre fighter, four CF-100 Canuck all-weather fighters flew past in tight box formation as seen in the picture inset.

Formosa 'Explosive'

HONG KONG (UP)—A touring British Labor Party delegation arrived here from Red China Wednesday and one of its members said the Peiping Communists were so worked up over Formosa that any incident could "explode a third world war."

The eight-member Socialist delegation headed by former Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee came here by train from Canton to end a controversial 15-day tour of Communist China.

The Communists gave them the red carpet treatment up to the end. Their train crossed the Lowu frontier rail bridge—the first Chinese Communist train to cross the border since 1949.

Attlee and most of the delegation members appeared weary from their long junket which has brought angry reaction both in Britain and the United States.

NO COMMENT
The former Labor prime minister had no comment to add to the delegation's statement in Canton Tuesday night which said a peaceful co-existence with the Communist world could diminish the chances of war.

Most of the talking was done by Henry W. Franklin, of the British National Union of Railwaymen, who told reporters he was impressed by the "great drive and energy of the Chinese."

The Chinese Communists, Franklin said, are working the nation up to such a pitch on the issue of Nationalist Formosa that he believed any incident, however trivial, could "explode a third world war."

Franklin said the British delegation discussed the Formosa question with Communist leaders who have threatened repeatedly to "liberate" Chiang Kai-shek's island bastion.

He said Formosa was a "dynamite subject." "They maintained over and over again that Formosa is theirs when they are powerful enough to do something about it," Franklin said in an interview.

Attlee will stay here for three days before leaving for Australia via Singapore.

Other members of the delegation are to leave for Tokyo today.

Car Damaged Striking Pole
About $1,500 damage was done to a 1953 model car when it hit a pole as it was rounding a curve on Towner Bay Road, just north of the Union Bay Indian reserve early today. RCMP said the car was driven by Mrs. Vera Lynne, 2633 Shelbourne but none of the three occupants were injured.

Young fists clenched tight around imaginary controls at Patricia Bay as hundreds of youngsters imagined themselves in the cockpits of the flashing jets which thrilled the crowds.

Spectators Thrill as Sabre Crashes Through Sonic Wall

BY IAN MACDONALD

F.O. Al McIlraith opened yesterday's RCAF jet aircraft display at Patricia Bay Airport with a bang as he piloted a Sabre jet fighter through the sound barrier at more than 700 m.p.h.

The 21-year-old Ontario flier whistled down from a clear blue sky a few minutes after 3 p.m. to herald a 65-minute, breath-taking performance by some of Canada's crack airmen.

All eyes were turned upward when the crowd, estimated at 7,000 in the immediate airport area, was informed that F.O. McIlraith was beginning his dive from more than 40,000 feet.

CROWD HUSHED

Spectators were hushed as his plane, a tiny, silver streak streaming a vapor trail, was seen plummeting towards the earth.

They winced as the air was rent by a sharp crack when the aircraft tore through the sound barrier.

F.O. McIlraith took his "bow" with a low-level run over the crowd at more than 650 m.p.h.

THREE TYPES
Then came a fly-past of F-86 Sabres, CF-100 Canuck all-weather fighters and T-33 Silver Star trainers.

The aircraft left Sea Island airport at 2:45 p.m. None of the jets landed at Patricia Bay during the demonstration. But a C-119 Flying Boxcar, which brought flight control officers to the island, was open for inspection.

It was the second time that the sound barrier has been broken officially in B.C. for the first time on Sunday at Vancouver.

It was the second time that the sound barrier has been broken officially in B.C. for the first time on Sunday at Vancouver.

Heavy 17-ton Canuck fighters were the first aircraft to demonstrate formation flying. Four of them flew in box formation about 200 feet over the crowd.

SLOW RUN
One airman staged a flaps-down fly-past at 125 m.p.h. about the Canuck's slowest air speed. His white-painted helmet could be seen in the cockpit as the aircraft whined past.

Three Sabres opened their part of the performance with a high-speed, line-astern flash over the heads of the audience.

The aircraft left heavy smoke trails behind them. "A sure sign the boys are pouring on the coal," said an RCAF commentator from his vantage point in the Flying Boxcar's cockpit.

STUNTS, TOO
The Sabres, used effectively by RCAF fliers against Chinese MiGs in Korea, screamed overhead at about 625 m.p.h. in intricate manoeuvres and stunts.

A solo slow roll gripped the crowd's imagination.

Four Silver Star trainers wheeled through their paces as though tied together. During the formation flying their wing tips were no more than 30 inches apart.

They finished their display with a spectacular "bomb burst." The planes roared into the sky and peeled off at right angles to one another. At slightly different heights they criss-crossed one another's paths above the runway.

WAIT FOR TCA
The smooth-moving performance was held up only twice by the arrival and take-off of Trans-Canada Airlines' Dakotas, slow and cumbersome compared with the fleet jets.

F.O. Peter Hawkes of Duncan was at the controls of one of the CF-100s during the display.

Dreams of faster-than-sound speeds were quickly dashed for the homeward-bound motoring crowd on the way home. Some of them traveled quite a distance from the airport at slightly faster than walking speeds.

It was bumper-to-bumper all the way back to the city, but the unanimous opinion was that the RCAF's jet fliers had made it worth the trouble.

IMMIGRATION PRACTICES 'SHOCKING'

Disclosed In Report Details of Lengthy Probe Told to Bar Association

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canada's citizenship and immigration department was accused Wednesday of "shocking" procedural practices at its offices all over the world.

The charges came at the convention of the Canadian Bar Association when the results of a 2½-year investigation of the department were disclosed following a committee meeting (See other stories, page 30.)

At the meeting, a three-man sub-committee, which had been investigating abuses in immigration procedure, sought permission from the parent committee to continue the investigation for another year.

J. H. McDonald of Ottawa, sub-committee chairman, said the investigation was disclosing "conditions more shocking than we first suspected."

Mr. McDonald, a Liberal organizer in Ontario, said that two years ago three lawyers, including himself, were named in the investigating sub-committee on immigration.

The others were John Dickey, Halifax member of Parliament and parliamentary assistant to Trade Minister Howe, and John Taylor, Vancouver attorney, who has handled thousands of immigration cases.

The sub-committee, Mr. McDonald said, had studied more than 200 cases and "this is the sort of thing we're finding out."

1. That in countless incidents Canadians trying to return from abroad were delayed by the immigration department anywhere up to five years. "They appear at an overseas immigration office with their birth certificates. An inspector simply tells them he doesn't believe they are the person named on the certificate. Then he tells them goodbye. They have no recourse to the courts. Some of them never get home."

2. That there is little uniformity in the department's rules and regulations. A man may be refused entry by one inspector

Damaged areas unfolded a panorama of devastation: crumpled slumber homes, coastline and harbors strewn with splintered yachts, cities and towns completely without electric power and facing food crises because of lack of refrigeration.

No central agency could estimate accurately the total damage but newspapers placed the loss between $300,000,000 and $500,000,000.

The unofficial death list stood at 31, with 16 missing. About 1,000 suffered injuries and 60,000 were evacuated.

It is known, however, she will return here from Vancouver November 5 and sail for Halifax November 9.

The post office, meanwhile, announces mailing times for the ship.

Closing dates for surface and/or air mails, respectively, in Via (San Diego) October 16 and 18 for 8 and 10 for Long Beach.

Nastiest Since 1900

Let's Just Forget Month of August

August was a mean month at Victoria, the nastiest, in fact, since 1900.

The weather office reports that the mean temperature for the month of 57.8 degrees equals the previous record low at the turn of the century.

A mean maximum temperature of 64 for the month is also the lowest since 1900. Then it was 63.3.

Other sad facts about August are: the mean temperature was 2.2 degrees below normal; rain fall of 2.04 inches was 1.4 inches

Immigration Men Slapped in Report

'Shocking' Practices Disclosed at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canada's citizenship and immigration department was accused Wednesday of "shocking" procedural practices at its offices all over the world.

The charges came at the convention of the Canadian Bar Association when the results of a 2½ year investigation of the department were disclosed following a committee meeting. (See other stories, page 30.)

Arms Outlay Down

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has reduced spending on arms and defense equipment, with Sabre jet production and defense construction taking the biggest cut.

With world tensions easing, the government's arms expenditures dropped to $225,000,000 in the first four months of the 1954-55 fiscal year, down $36,000,000 from $281,000,000 in the April-July period last year.

Informants estimated Wednesday that the biggest drop was in aircraft where government payments for the four months declined by $32,000,000 to $109,000,000.

No figures on volume could be disclosed, but they said deliveries of Sabre jets have been reduced to less than half the flow of last year, and that CF-100 jet fighter deliveries to the RCAF also have declined slightly. On the other hand, deliveries of T-33 jet trainers have increased.

Canada has produced more than 1,000 Sabre jets at the big Canadair plant in Montreal and most of these have been shipped overseas to equip Canada's air division in Europe and provide contributions to the RAF and other overseas allies.

Britain Calls Conference On German Rearmament

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain called Wednesday night for an eight-power conference at which she will ask that Germany be rearmed now and brought into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization following the death of the European Defense Community plan.

The decision, which came at a cabinet meeting presided over by Prime Minister Churchill, coincided with a new, bold rumble from Bonn demanding full sovereignty for West Germany and the right to participate "without discrimination" in Western defense.

The conference, aimed at seeking an alternative method to rearm West Germany now that EDC is dead, probably will be held within three weeks.

Invitations to attend were sent Wednesday night to the foreign ministers of the United States and the six EDC signatory nations—West Germany, France, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg.

The British decision to ask for West Germany rearmament will stipulate that any rearmament be provided against any resurgence of national militarism.

In Paris a French foreign officer spokesman said the government warmly welcomed the British government proposal for an eight-power conference to discuss a solution of problems arising from the collapse of the European Defense Community.

BOON—Dispatches said West Germany, reacting sharply to France's refusal to approve a European army including German troops, Wednesday night demanded full sovereignty and "participation without discrimination" in Western defense.

Doukhobor Land Tangle Goes To Commissioner in 10 Days

A major step in the solution of the tangled Doukhobor land question will be taken in 10 days with the appointment of a land commissioner.

The commissioner will likely be a member of the Supreme Court judiciary.

He will be charged with the task of unraveling the complex land ownership problem in the Kootenay valley. The land, once held by a corporation known as the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood for communal living by the Doukhobors, was taken over by the provincial government before the Second World War.

This was done to prevent the Doukhobors from being evicted after the Sun Life Assurance Co. foreclosed on a loan and the land was seized by the National Trust Co.

The Lands Settlement Board has been administering the land since 1939. Some of the Doukhobors pay rent for the land they still occupy. Others pay nothing.

The judicial commissioner, to be appointed under an act passed during the 1953 fall legislative session, will try to solve the question of who is entitled to the land, how it should be divided and what provision must be made for claims by creditors of the defunct brotherhood.

DETERRENT—Education Minister Ray Wiliston admitted the lands question will be used to deter orthodox Doukhobors from joining the fanatic Sons of Freedom in protest against the government's pro-school order.

Certain members on the fringe of the orthodox group might be swayed to embrace the Freedomite cause when the government endeavors to enforce the order in Glade and Krestova, the sorest trouble spot in the province.

Doukhobors who "don't behave themselves," Mr. Wiliston said, may find their lawlessness a black mark against them when the land allotment question is being worked out.

Mr. Wiliston said the Krestova and Glade school situation would be a critical stage in the government's Sons of Freedom policy.
